Two white mice in the [illegible] of poison gas. The [illegible] it in time to let them [illegible] the masks.

At Georgetown, D. C., a little [illegible] more sensitive than any [illegible], the "seismograph," [illegible] earthquakes shake the [illegible].

Yesterday morning a slight tremor told of something wrong somewhere in the earth, and yesterday afternoon in Japan it only killed 50, shaking down a few hundred of the poor [illegible] houses, and will hardly be [illegible]. Everything is comparative.

We continue to hear of Japan's earthquake. Heavy waves coming [illegible] the earth wash out sand [illegible] Atlantic coast, making deep [illegible] dangerous bathing.

Many now believe it was a wave [illegible] earthquake that sent seven [illegible] States destroyers on the [illegible] coast of California.

We will hear further from that earthquake later on, when the bill [illegible] paid. The earth is small.

This is Rosh-Hashonah, the Jewish New Year number 5684. Christians call it the year 1923. Other religions and nationalities have other [illegible] other dates, a majority [illegible] that the world is about [illegible] years old, and ought to end [illegible].

What Earth told her real age we [illegible] learn that many things happened here a thousand million years [illegible]. When it started, we don't [illegible].

More interesting than the number of this year is the Jews' power in proportion to their number.

There are only fifteen and a half million Jews on the earth, less than [illegible] per cent of the earth's total [illegible]. About one million six [illegible] thousand live in New York [illegible]. Three million live in the United States. Consider what has been done in the past, and what is [illegible] today, by that Jewish [illegible] per cent of the earth's popula[illegible].

Remove the Jewish establishments from the streets of any great [illegible], and what would the streets [illegible] like.

In every line of effort, from Spinoza in philosophy to Einstein in astronomical mathematics, the Jews [illegible] and have excelled. They [illegible] persecution such as no race [illegible] endured. They win in prize [illegible], as they do in music; in [illegible] making, as in poetry. Some [illegible] blood was in Columbus, and [illegible] great deal of their money was [illegible] to help this country when it [illegible] establishing its independence.

And nations that have most viciously persecuted the Jews have [illegible] gone down.

The [illegible] moon, traveling along [illegible] a minute, got between the [illegible] and the sun yesterday and for [illegible] seconds the sun's light went [illegible] at certain places, to a [illegible] degree elsewhere.

The moon was something like a [illegible] walking between you and [illegible] reading lamp. The eclipse was [illegible] by scientists on the [illegible] from flying machines, [illegible] observers were agitated. We [illegible], as they once did, that [illegible] eating up the sun. And [illegible] than angry gods are [illegible] to behave ourselves.

[illegible] days they took eclipses [illegible] that two armies, about [illegible] call and went home [illegible] when the sun began to [illegible] was a poor ruler that [illegible] some kind of eclipse [illegible].

Madison Schools Open With Big Increase In Enrollment Yesterday; 8,603 Register

The first day enrollment in Madison public and parochial schools yesterday showed a decided increase in the number of children of school age in the city. The total registration was 8,603. The public schools alone registered 6,759 students, an increase of 552 over the first day's enrollment last year. This figure does not include pupils from South Madison.

The comparative first-day enrollment in the schools last year and this year follows:

Public schools	1922	1923
Central high	1,106	1,209
East Side high	619	680
Brayton	281	264
Doty	216	208
Draper	323	335
Emerson	521	600
Harvey	197	225
Hawthorne	298	404
Lapham	212	213
Lincoln	289	381
Longfellow	637	674
Lowell	322	345
Marquette	275	270
Randall	573	643
Washington	308	277
Special	30	19
Deaf		12
Franklin		279
Total	6,207	7,038
Parochial schools—
Father Petit		375
Holy Redeemer		353
St. James		319
St. Bernard		208
St. Patrick		170
St. Joseph		140
Total parochial		1,565
Aggregate		8,603

The two high schools enrolled 1,889 pupils and the two junior high schools, at Randall and at Emerson schools, enrolled 475. Randall Junior high school, consisting of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, has 242 pupils, and the Emerson Junior high school, consisting of the seventh and eighth grades, 233. The 14 elementary schools, which includes the Franklin school, enrolled 4,643 children.

The largest increase in enrollment over last year was at the Hawthorne school, which shows an increase of 106, while the Lincoln school is second with an increase of 92. Brayton, Doty, Marquette and Washington schools, located in the more thickly settled portions of the city, enrolled fewer pupils this year than last year.

No computations had been made at the vocational school. Paul Graven, director of the school, stated that the figures would be available following the close of the registration this evening.

Cities Paying Higher Rates in Taxes---Lyons

Tax Commission Says Urban Centers Playing More Than Rural

The city resident in Wisconsin has more cause for complaint against high taxes than has the farmer, judging by a report of the state tax commission, announced today by Thomas E. Lyons, chairman.

This report, based upon comparative facts compiled by the tax commission, shows that while the true value of city property in Wisconsin is but 45 per cent of the total true value of all property in the state, cities bear on the average 58 per cent of the total taxes.

According to tax commission figures, the true value of rural property in Wisconsin amounts to $2,224,247,07, while the true value of urban property is set at $1,-830,425,735, or 45 per cent of the total.

In spite of its lower true valuation, city property is shown by the report to have paid $44,821,787 in taxes compared to $32,284,597 paid by the rural property.

"This report indicates," Chairman Lyons said, "that the farmers of Wisconsin are not overtaxed when their status is compared with that of the city resident. The farmers are to be sympathized with, however, because their business is not paying at this time. It is that situation which gives rise to the present complaint."

The assessed value of all rural property, like its true value is in excess of the assessed value of urban property, according to the report. The assessed value of the rural holding is set at $1,886 820,-979 and that of city holdings at $1,658,411,829, showing the urban property assessed value to be 47 per cent of the total.

Likewise the composite tax rate assessed in cities is higher than the country tax rate, the report shows. The average rate assessed in rural communitie was shown by the tax commission to have been 17.11 mills while that in the cities was 27.03 mills.

Following is the per centage of urban to total taxes in some of the larger counties of the state, as shown by the commission bulletin:

Brown county, 65 per cent; Chippewa, 45 per cent; Dane, 61 per cent; Douglas, 78 per cent; Eau Claire, 64 per cent; Kenosha, 77 per cent; La Crosse, 76 per cent; Manitowoc, 56 per cent; Marathon, 46 per cent; Marinette, 49 per cent; Milwaukee, 96 per cent; Outagamie, 65 per cent; Racine, 80 per cent; Rock, 69 per cent; Sheboygan, 63 per cent; Winnebago, 77 per cent.

In many of the purely agricultural sections, the rural taxes total much more than the city taxes, although the composite average rae shows that cities bear more taxes than rural communities, despite claims to the contrary.

German and French Envoys In Conference

Chancellor Streseman And French Envoy Discuss Settlement

(By the Associated Press)
PARIS—Conversations that are taking place between Jacquin De Margerie, French ambassador to Germany, and Chancellor Stresemann in Berlin are considered by the French government as leading toward a settlement of the reparation question, although it is stated that the chancellor has not yet made a definite offer either respecting the cessation of resistance in the Ruhr or what could be proposed afterward.

The conferences between M. De Margerie and Chancellor Stresemann will be continued.

Any proposition received by France from Chancellor Stresemann will be communicated immediately to the British and other allied governments.

Religion And Science Agree Says Dr. Hunt

Pastor Denounces Bryan In Address Before East Side Club

Belief that science and the church may work together for the redemption of the world was expressed by Dr. George E. Hunt, pastor of Christ Presbyterian church, in an address on "What Is Going on in the Church World," delivered at the first fall meeting of the Nabors club at Plymouth Congregational church last night.

"The world wide reaction in politics, economics and education that has been fighting against progress since the war has shown itself among churchmen by a revival of old creeds and a movement backward in theology," Dr. Hunt said. Mr. Bryan has been the silver-tongued mouthpiece of the fundamentalists during the past three or four years. In his ignorance of what science is and what evolution is, he has laid the blame for all the world's troubles to them.

"The church world is much larger than the secular press generally give the impression of being. One-half the population of the United States is in the church, and the millions invested in church property and the millions annually spent by the churches is a huge sum, larger thanthat spent by any other organization except the government. The church is growing in numbers, wealth and power with each year.

Dr. Hunt declared that the attempts of the reactionaries to expell from the church bodies all who believe that faith and science may work together may succeed in splitting the 30 strong religious denomiations among the Protestants into two great combinations, "the reactionaries clinging to the old creeds and the progressives seeking new ways of mending the world's hurts."

City Officials Defy Order Of Gov. Preus

EVELETH, Minn. — Although suspended indefinitely in an order yesterday by Gov. J. A. O. Preus Mayor Victor Essling, and City Clerk A. E. Vanbuskirk who are charged with misconduct in office, today were back at their desks in the city hall.

Every merchant of Madison will receive a visitor Wednesday. He will be a representative of the Madison Displaymen's association. He will ask for cooperation and a subscription to carry out the Fall Opening plans.

Zimmerman Is Made Chairman; Hit Reckless Cars

CHICAGO—Methods of eliminating incompetent automobile drivers and other safety proposals were before a conference of automobile department officials of middle western states here today. Fred R. Zimmerman, secretary of state of Wisconsin, was chosen chairman. It wos planned to formulate recommendations to be sent to the 12th annual safety congress of the national safety council to be held in Buffalo Oct. 1 to 5.

3 Regents Named By Governor

Senator Cashman, Fred Bachman And J. C. Schmidtman Appointed

For the first time in nearly eight years progressives are again in control of the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin.. With the appointment of three new members to the board by Gov. Blaine today the board now becomes dominated by progressive influences instead of stalwart.

The following appointments to the board were announced by Gov. Blaine today:

SENATOR JOHN E. CASHMAN, ninth congressional district, is named to represent the farmers of the state.

FRED C. BACHMAN, Appleton, named to represent labor.

JOHN C. SCHMIDTMAN, Manitowoc, named as regent at large.

With these appointments, two of them are made under provisions of the new Severson law increasing the size of the regents to give farmer-labor representation.

A bare announcement accompanied the governor's appointments. It follows:

"Senator Cashman is appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of former Regent Miller, and as representing the farmers.

"Mr. Bachman, who is city treasurer of Appleton, is appointed regent-at-large.

"Mr. John C. Schmidtmann, of Manitowoc, is an alumnus of the University, engaged in manufacturing. His appointment is at large.

"These appointments were made in compliance with the law passed by the last legislature increasing the membership of the board."

All appointments are for a term of six years.

Senator Cashman of Denmark is well known to progressives in Wisconsin as a result of the record he made in the last legislature. Senator Cashman is a bitter foe of those influences that are seeking to use educational influences for propaganda purposes. He introduced a bill in the last legislature making it illegal to revise text books to suit the purpose of foreign influences in this country.

Fred C. Bachman is city treasurer of Appleton. He is well known in organized labor circles. He has also taken an important part in progressive politics in Outagamie county.

John C. Schmidtman is a well known jobber of office supplies and specialties at Manitowoc. He is a graduate of the university and was a joint debater in the Philomathia debating society. He is a brother-in-law of Assistant Attorney General F. E. Bump of this city. He is about 45 years of age.

Mayor Hoan Asks Governor To Probe Coal

Says Prices At Milwaukee Are $1.70 A Ton Higher Than At Superior

Investigation of state coal prices as compared with prices asked for the product in other states has been asked of Governor J. J. Blaine by Mayor Daniel Hoan of Milwaukee. Mayor Hoan declares the price is $1.70 a ton less for coal at the heat of Lake Superior than at Milwaukee accountable to what he terms unfair freight rates discriminatory to this "port of call."

Mayor Hoan's letter to the governor is in line with the recent request of Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania calling on all state governors to prevent rise in coal prices.

Mussolini To Annex Fiume; May Use Force

Italian Premier Will Refuse Mediation Of The Question

(By the Associated Press)
PARIS—It is understood from information gathered in reliable sources that Premier Mussolini will proclaim the annexation of Fiume to Italy within a week, probably about Sept. 15.

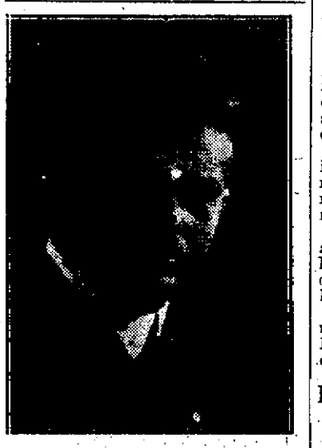

The government of Jugo-Slavia is represented as being aware of Mussolini's intention and as intending to make no serious protest provided Porto Barros and Sussak, adjacent, are not directly affected.

To Refuse Mediation
(By the Associated Press)
ROME—Best informed opinion here is that Italy will refuse any mediation of the settlement of the Fiume question with Jugo-Slavia as proposed by the latter.

Italy, it is declared, intends to settle directly with Jugo-Slavia, in line with the demands made for a settlement setting Sept. 15, as the date for a reply, even employing forceful means if necessary to end what she regards as an intolerable situation imperilling peace.

Rev. Wilke Will Head 2nd Ward In Union Drive

Rev. Otto J. Wilke

With a record for civic projects, the Rev. Otto J. Wilkie was selected to act as "general" for the second ward in the campaign of the Community Union.

Rev. Wilke has been in his present charge as pastor of St. John's Lutheran church for 19 years. At the present time he is seeing the completion of an extensive church improvement involving remodeling and installation of a large organ, and the erection of a new parsonage.

His interest in public enterprises has been shown in many directions. He worked in the Liberty Loan drives, in the Red Cross drives, the Y. M. C. A. membership campaign, and others.

The working forces for the second ward are being selected. The captains will include Harry Koss, 25 North Hancock street, Mrs. C. M. Kleinpell, 207 North Pinckney street, and Mrs. H. W. Rowedel, 117 North Franklin street. Others will be named this week.

W. Wells' Family In Hospital

Girl, 14, Has Collarbone Broken; On Way To Celebration

(Special to The Capital Times)
WAUKESHA, Wis.— Miss Margaret Wells, 14, Madison, had her collarbone broken, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will N. Wells, and her brother, Rufus Wells, 18, were severely cut and bruised when the Jewett automobile in which they were riding to Milwaukee overturned on the highway between Oconomowoc and Waukesha about 9:30 this morning. The Wells family lives at 1724 Regent st.

According to later reports from Waukesha this afternoon, Rufus Wells is believed to have sustained a fractured skull. The accident happened near Hartland, Wis.

Mr. Wells, formerly chief deputy internal revenue collector here, and his wife were on their way to Milwaukee to celebrate their thirty-second wedding anniversary.

Rufus Wells was driving the automobile. According to reports, the wheels skidded on a slippery stretch of road, became unmanageable, and turned turtle, pinning the occupants beneath it.

Margaret Wells, a sophomore at the Central high school, suffered a broken collarbone. She was riding in the front seat with her brother. Rufus, the driver, was cut and bruised badly.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells were riding in the rear seat. Both were catapulted out of the machine when it overturned. While neither of them is believed to be in a critical condition, both are badly bruised and cut. The injured are being cared for at the City hospital here.

Mr. Wells is part owner of The Quality Print shop, 107 South Fairchild street, and one time editor and publisher of The Sparta Democrat. He resigned his position as deputy revenue collector here shortly after Burt Williams, now of Milwaukee, left his post as collector of internal revenue for Wisconsin.

Giant Airship Soaring Over Eastern City

Huge Dirigible Draws Attention Of Thousands In New York City

(By the Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — The ZR—1 paid a visit to Philadelphia this afternoon, entering the city at the northeastern limits shortly after 2 P. M. and sailing down over the Delaware river toward the center of the city.

Viewed By Thousands
WOOLWORTH TOWER, N. Y.— The giant airship ZR 1, today flew up from her hangar in Lakehurst, N. J. to visit New York.

New York was on its toes to greet her. Roofs, visible for miles from the Woolworth Tower, were crowded with spectators. In the streets thousands could be seen craning their necks.

The sun gleamed on the dirigible's sleek gray sides and her rudder with its great streaks of red, white and blue, glistened in the rays.

Five seaplanes circled the ZR 1 as she passed over the tip of Manhattan, glided up the Island and disappeared in the haze far up the Hudson.

The ZR rode on an even keel most of the time. As she passed Mistress Liberty, however, she dipped her prow quite perceptibly.

La Follette Confers With Soviet Leaders

MOSCOW—United States Senator La Follette, after having had conferences with M. Tchitcherin, Leonla Grassin and the other soviet leaders, will leave on Monday for Warsaw.

Mr. La Follette up to the present has declined to make any statement with regard to the impressions he has formed of Russia, but it is understood that he has been convinced of the stability and progress of the country.

Several other members of the American party will remain in Moscow for some time.

Withdraw Huge Sum InBondCo.

Startling Testimony Given By Government Accountant At Superior

(By the Associated Press)
SUPERIOR, Wis.—With the concluding statement that the alleged loss of the Madison Bond company of approximately $1,000,000 was virtually the same amount which the books of the company disclosed in withdrawals by Victor H. Arnold, its former president, William H. Robinson, department of justice accountant, closed the government's case against Arnold, charged with using the mails to defraud, at noon today.

Judge C. Z. Luse, presiding in federal district court, recessed the jury a half hour early to permit defense counsel to prepare a number of motions. The government rested its case at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

It is expected several motions including one to quash the entire indictment, one petitioning for a directed verdict and another to formally quash the four counts in the indictment which the government was unable to support because of the death of its witness, D. R. Gorham, former mayor of Monroe, Wis., will be offered by the defense counsel.

Robinson, who occupied the stand for the entire session yesterday and until noon today, gave some startling evidence, the result of an examination of the Madison Bond company books extending over a period of several months.

The witness testified that his examination of the bond company books revealed that in the eight year period, from 1914 to 1922 inclusive, the defendant withdrew $58,791.48 in salaries; $32,359.37 in dividends; $75,000 in bonuses; $330,600 in stock; $4,837.13 in interest; $120,500 in notes; $93,948.74 in trust receipts, and $437,288 in bonds borrowed.

The total of these items, he testified, amounted to $1,153,304.72.

Mr. Robinson explained the item of $330,600 in stock as a gift of this amount of capital stock to Arnold for which the company was never reimbursed.

The government won a point which has been the result of a continual battle between the defense and government counsel when following the testimony of the final government witness, Judge Luse permitted the petition of the referee in bankruptcy of the Madison Bond company and the order of the court commanding the return to the referee from the trustees of a number of securities placed as collateral behind Madison Bond company collateral gold bonds during the last few months of the company's existence to be entered as government exhibits.

Aheated argument between U. S. District Attorney W. H. Daugherty and Hal S. Corbett, chief defense counsel, over the propriety of certain evidence called forth a reprimand to both attorneys from Judge Luse.

Kills His Wife

Cudahy Worker Then Attempts To Slay Self; Jealousy Is Cause

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Following unsuccessful attempts to end his own life after taking that of his wife, Cecelia, 50, yesterday, Joseph Borowski, 55, packing house worker, Cudahy, is held in the Cudahy jail charged with first degree murder.

Borowski fired three shots at his wife from whom he was estranged. Jealousy aroused over a supposed rival and inability to effect a reconciliation are given as the motives. Mrs. Borowski also a packing house worker, was entering the home of her children when accosted by the husband.

City Absorbs School Board of S. Madison

Bunn Juggles Figures To Determine Size Of Bond Issue

Tabulation of the assets and liabilities of the South Madison board of education will be made to ascertain the amount of the bond issues required to complete construction of the new Franklin school, according to instructions given to E. F. Bunn, city auditor, at a meeting of the council finance committee last night. The Madison board of education was given authority to take charge of the Franklin school.

Contracts totaling $56,212.97 have been let for the new building. Of these $27,710.78 has been paid by the suburb through a state loan of $25,000 and $2,000 from the general fund, leaving a balance due of $28,-502.19 on the building itself and $1,500 for equipment. The first bond issue will probably be for about $55,000.

Bills of the South Madison board were turned over to the city auditor. A bank balance of $2,217.13 was reported to the council finance committee. Outstanding debts of the school amount to $1,387.65, which includes coal and desks. This leaves a cash balance on hand of $829.25. An option on the Adeline V. D. Brand property will be taken over by the city. This option amounts to about $1,000 and expires Dec. 21.

The land is sought for the purpose of squaring the school property into which it now juts. Members of both school boards believe this purchase is essential. The new school will be completed about Nov. 1, according to F. L. Kronenberg, architect.

Local Men To Speak At Sawyer Co. Meeting

State authorities on health and social welfare will assist in forming a permanent organization in Sawyer county, September 20, in the interest of social work development. A countywide meeting will be held, the topics to include public health, recreation, juvenile delinquency, rural schools, boys' and girls' clubs and anti-tuberculosis work.

Among the speakers are Dr. F. F. Dowman, state board of health, on control of communicable diseases of school children; Anna Thompson, Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, on a county anti-tuberculosis program; Prof. E. B. Gordon, university extension division, on a community organization for social expression, and Aubrey Williams, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Conference on Social work.

A trip through the city next Monday to investigate complaints on excessive assessments will be made by the city board of review. The board adjourned yesterday without receiving a single complaint.

Aviator Goes Up 16,000 Feet And Flies 300 Miles to Get Photograph of The Eclipse

Lieut. Mac Ready Battles With Clouds To Obtain View of The Sun

GET FINE PICTURES.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—The only successful photographs of the sun's corona made in southern California during the eclipse of the sun yesterday are believed to be ones made by Prof. James Worthington of London and Dr. Alfred B. Burton, professor-emeritus of astronomy in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, near here yesterday.

Prof. Worthington stated last night that four of the negatives developed by him were almost perfect and would take rank with the best ever made during a solar eclipse.

(By the Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Lieut. John A. MacReady, one of the two army flyers who broke the world's record in a non-stop flight from New York to San Diego, is the possessor of a new and novel record today as the result of his flight of 16,000 feet altitude to observe the eclipse cut off from a view of the earth by clouds that spread over the coast clear to Ensenada in Lower California. With Capt. A. W. Stevens, noted army photographer, MacReady battled the clouds for three hours to gain an unobstructed view of the eclipse.

They were winging along in utter darkness, with tongues of blue flame shooting from their exhaust pipes and with wings and fuselage drenched with moisture, when the drama of the skies was enacted. They flew 320 miles to get one picture, but were foiled by the elements.

Navy air men scattered over a wide area and flying at altitudes varying from 7,000 to 16,000 feet, were successful in getting not only excellent motion pictures of the corona, but also faint but sufficient photographs of the fleeting shadow that swept with terrific speed down from the northwest at the moment of totality.

Scientists are extremely puzzled over one bit of information that dropped from the clouded skies with the naval aviators. This was a sea of lavender colored clouds.

Escaped Convict In Confession Of Murder

CHICAGO — John E. Hale, who escaped from the Joliet penitentiary, today faced a charge of murder following a confession which detectives said he made to them last night that he had killed Henry B. Rhodes, wealthy drygoods merchant in his automobile on a lonely cross road near Evanston three years ago. His accomplice, he said was Harry H. Ward, hanged two years ago for two other murders.

Unique Football Game Will Open Hilltop Season

MILWAUKEE, Wis.— A unique practice football game, wherein there will be no scoring and where each team will handle the ball offensively for four minutes in each of the eight eight-minute periods, will open the gridiron season in Milwaukee on September 29 when Marquette University will meet Lombard college, Galesburg, Illinois, according to announcement here today by Marquette athletic officials.

The game will be played just as any other football game except for a number of exceptions agreed on by Coach Frank J. Murray of Marquette and Coach Paul J. Schissler of Lombard. Included among them are: No scoring to count; if team kicks, the ball goes to the kicking team at point where defense has brought it back; coaches permitted to follow play and while Lombard has ball, Marquette coach will referee and vice versa; men can be replaced at any time, and in the last quarter the teams will take turns putting he ball in play on the opponents' ten yard line.

Anti-Saloon League Head Says State Senate Will Remain Dry

FOND DU LAC, Wis.—The drys of Wisconsin will continue to have control in the state senate during the next session of the legislature and in a position to prevent repeal of the Severson prohibition enforcement statute, Dr. D. L. McBride, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, predicted in a speech here.

The Anti-Saloon league declared that the wets of the state have "vainly tried their utmost to chloroform the dry law and to pull its teeth by repeal of the search and seizure section, and then sought to lift the lid from 150 breweries and 5,000 saloons by repealing the Severson law. But," he said, "The senate sat heavily on the lid."

"Drys will continue to hold the senate," Dr. McBride continued. "The fight is on against any step backward. The Anti-Saloon league is putting on a comprehensive program of education and organization."

Doctors Clear Up Mystery In Death Case

Causes Certified To Board Of Health; Disease At Low Ebb

The causes of the deaths of Mrs. Esther C. Thompson, 95, and her son, Thomas, 54, who passed away within two days of each other on August 21 and 23 have been certified to the city board of health, it was announced today. Mrs. Thompson died of acute cardiac diatation, commonly known as heart disease, and Mr. Thompson succumbed to an attack of acute pneumonia.

The twin-death case puzzled physicians here for several days and a study of them was made y C. W. Muehlberger, state toxicologist, and C. H. Bunting, pathologist of the university.

The August report of the health board was delayed several days pending the decisions in these cases The report, made public today, shows communicable diseases in Madison at their lowest point this year.

Only six cases of measles were reported during the month as compared with over 400 in one month during the winter. Chicken pox leads with a total of 11 cases. Other contagious diseases were: diphtheria, one; scarlet fever, two; whooping cough, six; tuberculosis, five; typhoid fever, one.

Millions of Fish, Facing Death, Being Rescued

Millions of fish, rescued from death in back-water sloughs along the Mississippi river, are being planted in Wisconsn lakes and rivers, Dayton C. Webster, in charge of state fisheries, announces.

Rescue work by the federal government and the state conservation commission is resulting in life-saving work of magnitude among the game fish. He said that six carloads of black bass fingerlings, rescued from the Mississippi river, are now being distributed in Wisconsin.

The state conservation commission is engaged in life-saving work among the fish stranded below power dams at Neenah, according to the commission. White bass totalling over 300,000 were said to have been taken from the waters in one week.

Arrest Ends Long Search for Auto Thief

Lester Bitney Arrested Yesterday By Arnold; Escaped at Rice Lake

Lester Bitney, 25, formerly of Lodi, is being held at the county jail in default of $2,000 bail after pleading not guilty to a charge of operating a car without the consent of the owner when arraigned in superior court today.

Bitney's arrest yesterday afternoon at the Northwestern passenger station by Patrolman Jack Arnold marked the termination of a nation-wide search instituted a year ago when Bitney is alleged by police to have left this city in a stolen Ford touring car.

Bitney was arrested in Rice Lake, Wis., last fall after he had abandoned the car on the streets of that village. Bitney's captivity was cut short the next morning when he made his escape from the office of the justice while he was being arraigned.

Northern Wisconsin Fire Hazards Smaller

The danger of forest fires in northern wooded Wisconsin counties is at a minimum this year due to heavy rains, the state conservation commission reports.

Despite the reduced hazard, the fire fighting organization is better prepared during the present season for possible trouble, than at any time in the past, according to the commission.

Under provisions of a new law, fire districts have been organized in northern counties.

30 Days In Jail To Sober Up, Stolen Decree

Thirty days in the county jail was the cure prescribed by Judge O. A. Stolen today for the affliction that is troubling Fred Henika. Henika appeared in Superior court this morning, his eyes blood-shot and his nerves a-quiver. He asked for a doctor after pleading guilty to a charge of drunkenness.

Charles Paige, arrested with Henika yesterday afternoon, pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness. Bail was set at $100. Two others, Ben Olson and John Sater, paid fines of $10 and costs after pleading guilty to the same charge.

Parker, Smith Competent To Make Survey of Water Field In Madison, Alderman States

Confidence in the heads of the water department and city engineering departments was expressed at a meeting of the council finance meeting Monday night when discussion centered on the future water supply and the proposed new wells.

Recommendation of both L. A. Smith, superintendent of the water department, and E. E. Parker, city engineer, that an expert of national reputation be retained by the city to investigate the subterranean water-shed was not favored by Ald. W. L. Woodward, Patrick H. Barry and A. G. Park. The aldermen felt that the local men are capable of making the survey themselves and then, if the city wishes, have an expert review the plans and findings of the department head and offer his criticism.

"I do not see why we should spend money for an engineer to do this work when we have competent men here who can do it just as well," Ald. Woodward said. "If either Mr. Smith or Mr. Parker decide to quit their positions with the city, the first thing they would probably do is to hang out a shingle as consulting engineers and we would probably hire them back to do the work for us which they now want another engineer to do."

An engineer of national reputation was suggested by the local engineers because they feel that the citizens would feel more confident in such a decision than if the investigation was made by local men. The future plans of the water department were to be based on these findings.

The aldermen feel that both engineers gave a good display of their abilities in the work they did for the government during the late war. Mr. Parker and Mr. Smith were both stationed in California ship yards at that time. Mr. Parker has the distinction of building the San Miguel, the first concrete ship ever turned out successfully in the history of shipbuilding.

Americans Show Heroism In Dashing Up Bay In Dangerous Waters to Rescue Foreigners

Three Quarters Of Houses In Tokio Are Reported Uninhabitable

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON.—Refugees arriving on the Empress of Australia credit the commander and officers of the American naval destroyer 217 with the most outstanding act of heroism after the earthquake. This was the dash of the craft up Tokio Bay to rescue foreigners.

Ocean-going vessels rarely attempt to steam further up the gulf than Yokohama and for the Americans to take their ship to Tokio through the shallow waters of the Upper Bay after the seismic upheaval involved unknown dangers.

Commanders of other ships at Yokohama warned the Untied States navy men that it was too early to attempt to reach Tokio. Neverless destroyer 217 made the run and the Americans were the first rescuers to reach the city. The refugees were taken aboard from small boats and destroyer 217 returned to Yokohama where the foreigners boarded liners.

Another dash to Tokio followed and on her return the destryoer brought the remaining foreigners who desired to leave the big ships at Yokohama.

The American rescuers found the foreign colony encamped in the gardens of the Imperial hotel with a strong military guard around the buildings and gardens for protective purposes. The foreigners slept in the open and received military rations and two meals daily from the hotel authorities who placed all their resources in food, clothing and bedding to the disposal of the foreign residents.

The military guard was necessary, says the correspondent because across the street in Hibiya Park, 100,000 destitute Japanese, many desperate had even less food and protection than had the foreigners.

HOUSES UNINHABITABLE
(By the Associated Press)

TOKIO.—Probably three fourths of the houses in Tokio are uninhabitable for, while but half of the capital was destroyed, the other half was damaged severely.

Thousands who are sleeping out no doubt prefer this since earthquakes continue, some rather sharp. Sleep for the nerve-stricken people is next to impossible.

Arrivals from the Hakone mountains describe the remarkable effect of the quakes there where mountains toppled, filling up valleys and burying alive many hundreds of people.

In Tokio some frightful scenes are being disclosed as the debris is cleared away. Charred bodies are found in groups where the people thought they would be safe from falling tiles.

It will take weeks to dispose of the dead in Tokio, Yokohama and the surrounding villages.

The Kawasaki manufacturing district was wiped out. It included many concerns in which American capital is invested.

Despite the privations, horrors and damage suffered in Tokio, life here is returning to normal. Rickshaws have reappeared. Street cars, however, on which the poorer depend, remain on the tracks where they came to a standstill with the first tremendous earth shock Sept. 1. They are inhabited now by refugees, chiefly those ill.

The newspapers have begun issuing "fly sheets" their editors apparently as far at sea regarding the extent and details of the catastrophe as the populace.

Teachers To Get Refunds For Carfare

New Plan Of Education Board Effective This Year

Madison teachers for the first time in history will receive carfare for tripes made when they are required to teach at more than one school. The plan, approved by the board of education at a meeting held last June, went into effect today with the opening of school. No method of compensatig the teachers has as yet been devised. Superintendent Gosling stated today. Teachers probably will be required to submit monthly statements of expenses incurred in moving from one school to another, and the amount will be added to the monthly pay, Mr. Gosling stated.

"It is expected that the teachers will pay for one round trip themselves," Mr. Gosling said today. "The inference being that the board will pay for more than one round trip."

Mr. Gosling estimates that the expenses incurred by teachers for transference between schools will amount to approximately $700 annually.

May Move Child Health Center to Stoughton Soon

Dane county's first child health center, held the past year at Mt. Horeb, will probably be changed to a new location. This is in accordance with a rule of the state board of health, the object being to make the center more accessible to the mothers and children of the county. Stoughton has been active in support of her claims for the center.

Miss Bessie Crandall, new maternity and infant health center nurse, will devote attention to the proposed change upon her first visits this month. Miss Crandall is scheduled for health centers in each of her four counties within the next 10 days. These are as follows: Albany, Sept. 13; Fennimore, Sept. 14; Janesville, Sept. 20; Mt. Horeb, Sept. 21.

Legislators See Reaction On Gas Tax

Members of Committee Say People Favored Bill Vetoed By Governor

The veto by Gov. Blaine of the gasoline tax bill passed by the last legislature, resulting in a hampered highway program, has met with disapproval in many sections of the state, Assemblymen Richard Kamke of Merrill and Fred A. Fredrich, Manitowoc county, reported to Frank Kuehl, the governor's secretary.

These two assemblymen, members of the special legislative highway committee, named by Gov. Blaine to lay out 2,500 additional miles of state trunk highway, informed the executive, through his secretary, that they were encountering strong opposition to his attack on the gasoline tax.

The general sentiment expressed at hearings held in most of the counties of northern Wisconsin, was said by the legislators to favor a tax on gasoline as the most equitable way to raise highway funds. Farmers particularly were reported to have favored the tax as a means of exacting some revenue from tourists.

Gov. Blaine's secretary is said to have advised the legislators that their information differed from that being received by the governor. He feels according to his secretary, that his veto of the gasoline tax bill has proved popular.

This measure was killed by the executive on the ground that it was a sales tax.

Majestic Theater Will Re-open Here Saturday

The Majesitc theater, King st., will open on Sept. 15 after having been closed several weeks to allow installation of a new ventilating system and for redecorating, it was announced today by F. J. McWilliams, manager of the Fischer Theaters in Madison. The first bill in the redecorated playhouse will consist of "Bluebird's Eighth Wife," featuring Gloria Swanson, and Brown's Saxophone Six.

Mac, Astonished At Query, Holds Man As "Drunk"

A bleeding neck caused the arrest of E. H. Ellickson, 510 Roy st., Stoughton, last night on the Lake Monona drive by Undersheriff William McCormick, who charged him with operating a car while intoxicated.

Ellickson was bleeding about the neck when McCormick came to investigate a smashup between Ellickson's car and another machine. Upon the arrival of the undersheriff Ellickson picked himself up from a bank where he had been sitting and walked over to McCormick.

"Did you cut my throat?" he demanded of that officer.

McCormick took that as sufficient provocation to arrest the injured man on a charge of drunkenness. The charge was changed to one of reckless driving in Superior court today and the Stoughton man paid a fine of $10 and costs.

Will Not Ask Polish General To Come Here

General Joseph Haller, commander in chief of the Polish army during the world war who will visit Milwaukee in the near future will not be invited to Madison by the A. of C., Don Mowry, secretary, stated today. The reason given is that Madison has not a large enough Polish population to warrant inviting Gen. Haller here.

We Boast of Our National Independence

So let us strive for individual liberty to further strengthen our Country's freedom

Individual liberty is composed of many factors, and among them, financial freedom, probably has the greatest influence. Too many American people are bound by lack of capital—ready money.

Acquiring money is all a matter of accumulation, of steady growth from a small start. This small start, through thrift, is substantially increased by regular additions and the whole earns a consistent six percent at all times.

Have you begun to establish your individual liberty—have you made your start? All owners of our first mortgages and first mortgage bonds have. Ten dollars will start you.

What I Think of Myself---Thomas Meighan

Mental Wizard at Orph Startles With His Weird Reading

By THOMAS MEIGHAN

Among my faults I admit to being sensitive to nagging, although I welcome constructive criticism. I sometimes wonder if the screen-going public in some instances attend photoplays purely for the entertainment and instruction to be gained therefrom, or to find fault. I often imagine that certain individuals do not take into consideration the immense detail that is involved in picture making. Long before a picture is started, the amount of research work that is carried on to secure accuracy in every detail is indefatigable. As regards my latest picture "Homeward Bound" the picture now showing at the Madison, I know that no effort was spared to secure accuracy of setting. Do you wonder I am touchy about unthinking critics who say the movies are careless and superficial.

I congratulate myself on having a wife who sticks to me in my cross-country jaunts and who has given up her career to help me—for that is what Frances Ring has done, although her sister Blanche has more recently been seen across the footlights.

I congratulate myself on having been lucky enough to put my dad on easy street and to have that dear old soul happy and proud of his son.

THRILLING RIDES OVER DESERT

The story of Alias the Night Wind, which, starring William Russell is being shown at the Parkway for the last times tonight reveals the fact that the great Metropolitan centers of the United States are teeming with the kind of drama "the public wants."

The hero of the melodrama is Bingham Howard a youth unjustly accused of the theft of $100,000 in bonds. The futility of breasting the law and the hopelessness of establishing innocence when guilt holds sway is brought home by this story with crushing force.

With this feature is being shown a Clyde Cook comedy, the Pathe Review and the News Weekly.

MENTAL WIZARD AT ORPHEUM

Harry Kahne whose bill calls him the "greatest mentalist," is a splendid looking chap possessing a bright cheerful personality and a wonderfully superior mind. This remarkably clever young man at the Orpheum keeps his audience in the throes of wonderment long after he has finished. Concentration is the keynote of his excellent offering. The quintuple concentration is the final feat offered. It consists of Mr. Kahne reading a newspaper and writing exactly what he reads upside down and backwards. At the same time listening to requests from the audience and answering them concerning population of cities in the United States and what they are noted for, adding a column of figures to correspond with a total called out by the audience who also submit the figures to represent the required total.

MRS. G. W. HALL SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lima, Ohio.—"Indeed, your medicine is all you say it is! I had very severe trouble such as women often have, and could do no heavy work. I was sick for several years, and from reading your ads. I finally decided to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now doing my own washing, which I haven't done for several years, and can walk long distances without those dragging pains and weak feelings. The Vegetable Compound is fine, and I never forget to say a good word for it to other women when they say they need something."—Mrs. G. W. HALL, 533 Brazel Avenue, Lima, Ohio.

There are many women who find their [illegible] almost unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, [illegible] annoying symptoms [illegible] pains, weakness and a run-down feeling.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Hall's experience is but one of many.

Let us talk over that motor problem—

MESSAGE TO BUSINESS MEN

For instance, if you are a baker, confectioner, or ice cream manufacturer, run a restaurant or hotel—or are in any other business requiring economical power—you will find that there is a G-E Motor and Control "just to fit".

G-E Motors Make Extra Profits

Noise may not hinder coining money in a boiler shop—but elsewhere clatter is usually costly.

In many lines of business where safety, quiet, smoothness of start, run and stop, freedom from dirt and dust are necessary to profits, G-E Motors and Control have made faultless power records.

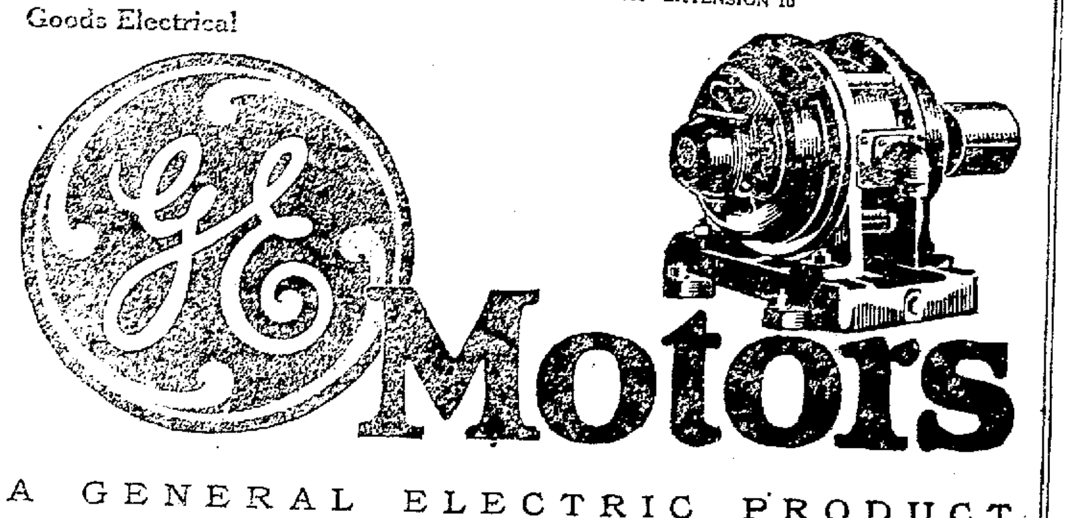

You are already using electric power? Good—but—are your motors correctly applied—of the right size and type—is your control modern?

A "plant inspection" may uncover power defects easily and cheaply remedied.

See your local G-E Motor dealer. If you do not know him, write or phone

A Record That Speaks for Itself

Every three months for the last twenty-three years the preferred shareholders of Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co. have received dividend checks at the rates promised on their stock certificates.

From time to time, with the State's approval, the Company sells a new issue of preferred shares direct to home investors.

The money got for the new shares is invested, subject to State supervision and approval, in more income-producing public service property. This new property begins earning divdends at once, and begins paying them at the next quarterly dividend date. If you buy shares between dividend dates, you get, at the next dividend date, a check at the full dividend rate for the time that your money has been in the business. Price, $100 per share.

If you buy shares of the 7% cumulative preferred issue now on sale, as many are doing, by paying $5 down and $5 a month per share, the Company pays you 7% interest on your payments, credited on the last one. This is a safe way to get 7% interest on current savings, and to acquire good shares that will pay you permanent income without any further work or worry on you part.

Nearly a quarter of a century of practical experience has proven that the common stock of the Company bears the risks of the business. The owners of the common stock have managed the Company for more than a quarter of a century. They started with a property worth a shade over $10,000,000 in 1896, and they have made it worth more than $65,000,000. They have made it one of the strongest public service institutions in the United States. Their common shares get no dividends until preferred share dividends are paid in full, continuously. They have got common share dividends averaging 8% every year for the last twenty years. Some years their dividend has fallen below 8%; some years it has gone higher. Their $11,250,000 of common stock is the cushion that absorbs the ups and downs of net income, protecting the preferred shareholders.

The electric service business is the fastest growing large industry in the United States. Its growth, moreover, is permanent, like the business. Under State regulation, it cannot earn big profits. But its preferred shareholders can bank on getting their dividends regularly every three months. And, because the preferred share dividends ARE dependable, the preferred shares are always worth what they cost, and are always readily salable, in case of need, through our Securities Department.

If you want a safe 7% income for idle money, or for your monthly savings, here is the place to get it. Come in and talk it over, or write for details. Mail orders filled by registered letter.

P. E. O. Honors Inception At Party Tonight

Local Chapter Six Years Old; Mrs. Smith Entertains

Six years ago today an interesting group of women met at the home of Mrs. Albert E. Smith, 1148 Spaight street, and with the hostess as one of the guiding spirits, organized chapter H of the P. E. O. Sisterhood. Tonight, for the seventh consecutive Sept. 11, the local organization will be entertained at the Smith residence to celebrate its beginning at the annual "birthday party." The husbands of members have been invited and the entire party will number some 50 guests.

Mrs. Harvey Nichols and Mrs. Bertha Hart will assist Mrs. Smith as hostesses. Mrs. Guy F. Lowman has arranged the program of games, stunts and special numbers, which include readings by Miss Alethea Smith, who recently returned from a summer of study at the Northwestern school of speech, and a pantomime play having in its cast of players Mrs. H. H. Hites, Mrs. Paul Hunter, Mrs. Arthur Stedman, Mr. Hunter, Mr. Hites and Albert Smith, Jr.

Several out-of-state guests will be present at the function, among whom will be Mr. and Mrs. Whitmer, Mr. and Mrs. Winterly and Miss Laura Duncan, all from Iowa chapters of P. E. O.

The affair this evening, which begins at 7:30, will be the first of the 1923-1924 season.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rupp and daughter, Miss Margaret, 821 W. Dayton street, have broken camp at Monona Castle, their cottage at Hoboken beach. They spent last week end in Milwaukee where they accompanied a niece, Miss Veronica Quinn, who enrolled as a senior student at Marquette university.

SCHAFER-TUTTLE

Yesterday noon at the home of her parents, Miss Elizabeth Jane Schafer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schafer, 1102 Grant street, was united in marriage to Clifton M. Tuttle, son of Mrs. C. M. Tuttle, 1206 Grant street, by Norman C. Kimball, officiating clergyman.

The marriage was informal and was attended only by intimate friends and relatives of the bridal pair. The bride wore a biege twill dress coat, and a hat of the same shade, and a corsage of Ophelia butterfly roses and sweet peas. Mrs. Agnes Tuttle, sister-in-law of the groom, was gowned in black satin, wore a black lace hat, and a corsage of roses. Ray Tuttle, brother of the groom, was best man.

During the rendition of Mendelsohn's bridal march, played by a Thomas, and the Misses Genevieve and Lila Hcks, the bridal couple took their places. Following the ceremony a luncheon was served to 20 guests, after which Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle left on a trip, planning to establish their residence at Athens, Ga., where Mr. Tuttle will instruct in the state university. The bride plans to complete her undergraduate course in the university at Athens.

RECENT MAZOMANIE WEDDING

Miss Loretta Lacey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Lacey, Mazomanie, was married at St. Barnabas church, Mazomanie, to William F. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. White, Fitchburg, last week.

The bride was gowned in white canton crepe, wore a tulle veil caught with pearls and chantilly lace, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and swansonia.

Miss Monona Nichols, Madison, as bridesmaid, wore copper-colored satin-back crepe, a black picture hat and carried an arm bouquet of sunburst roses. Francis White, brother of the groom, attended the duties of best man. Following the service a wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home, after which the young people left on a motor trip through the northern part of the state. After Nov. 1 they will be at home at Fitchburg.

Madison guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Barry, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Tierney, Miss Mary Elizabeth Tierney, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. DeBeck, Miss Monona Nichols and Miss Pearl Hodgson.

WEEK-END AT COTTAGE

How To Keep A Child Healthy

A GENERATION ago parents thought that sickness was a part of a child's life, but we know better now. The secret is in the food the mother allows the child to eat, and in watching that elimination occurs regularly two or three times a day. Mrs. J. Russell of 19,141 Havana Ave., Detroit, Mich., keeps her family of two young children in perfect health with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and Mrs. R. L. Smith of 519 Maple Ave., East Pittsburg, Pa., says her family of three children have never been sick a day since giving them Syrup Pepsin.

A Substitute for Physics

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientific compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and suitable aromatics. The formula is on every package. You will find you do not have to force children to take it, and it is much better for them than castor oil, calomel or coal-tar drugs like phenolphthalein even if covered with sugar or chocolate. Syrup Pepsin is mild and gentle in action and your child will have an easy passage without griping or strain. It does not contain narcotics, and you can give it with absolute safety to an infant at the breast.

"Magic" in a Teaspoonful

Every store that sells medicines sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. Give half a teaspoonful to any ailing baby or child at night when you put it to bed and you will find a happy, laughing youngster in the morning. Take Syrup Pepsin yourself when constipated, and give it to any member of the family young or old, for any ailment due to constipation, such as biliousness, headache, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, bad breath, cankers, fever sores, indigestion, and to break up fevers and colds. Stop that first sneeze or sniffle and you will have a healthy winter.

Competition Among Display Men Waxes Keen As Event Nears

"Madison is about to enjoy her most beautiful and extensive Fall Exposition of merchandise," is the cry of the Madison Displaymen's association. Plans are being worked out in great detail by the members and the spirit of competition, already much in evidence, is forcing every trimmer to the height of his genius.

The unveiling of the windows at 7 o'clock Sept. 19 will bring forth display after display, the like of which Madison has never seen before. Many of the background creations will be in period designs, to better show the historical significance of the new models for the season.

Probably one of the most difficult, yet one of the most artistic displays, is that of draping the wonderful fall fabrics upon living models. This is truly the zenith of the displaymen's art. Gowns of charming lines will grow before one's very eyes, and what was an exquisite piece of silk becomes a finished creation. These draping displays will be made from the bolt without a single cutting. The interested audience will be able to pick up many a valuable idea for future wardrobes.

Final arrangements will be made tomorrow evening when the Displaymen's association meets. There will be a general exchange of ideas to further promote the success of the entire city-wide showing.

INTERESTING MARRIAGE

A wedding of interest is that of Miss Elizabeth Dahlman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dahlman, Milwaukee, and Wilmarth O. Ickes, formerly of Madison, which took lace Saturday morning at the home of the bride. Miss Anna Dahlman, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Raymond Ickes, Hubbards Woods, Ill., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Ickes left on a short trip and will be at home at Winnetka, Ill. The bridegroom attended the university several years ago and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ickes, Hubbards Woods.

To Discard Freckles, Tan, Pimples, Wrinkles

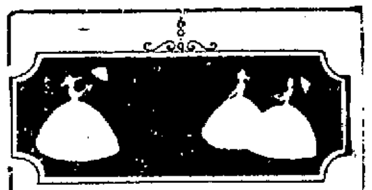

It is said that creams containing animal grease cause hair to grow. You run no risk of acquiring superfluous hair from using ordinary mercolized wax. There is nothing better for a discolored skin, as the wax actually absorbs the offensive cuticle. The latter is naturally replaced by a clear, smooth, healthy complexion, full of life and expression. It's the sensible way to discard a freckled, tanned, over-red, blotchy or pimpled skin. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any druggist's and apply nightly like cold cream, erasing in the morning with soap and water. Soon you will observe a most remarkable transformation.

The ideal wrinkle remover is made by dissolving an ounce of pure powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution brings almost immediate results.—Adv.

Best Home Treatment for All Hairy Growths

(The Modern Beauty)

Every woman should have a small package of delatone handy, for its timely use will keep the skin free from beauty-marring hairy growths. To remove hair or fuzz from arms or neck, make a thick paste with some of the powdered delatone and water. Apply to hairy surface and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. To avoid disappointment, be sure you get real delatone and mix fresh.—Adv.

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Ramon Coffman "Uncle Ray"

(Copyright, John F. Dille Co.)

CHAPTER 125

WAS THERE A REAL TROY?

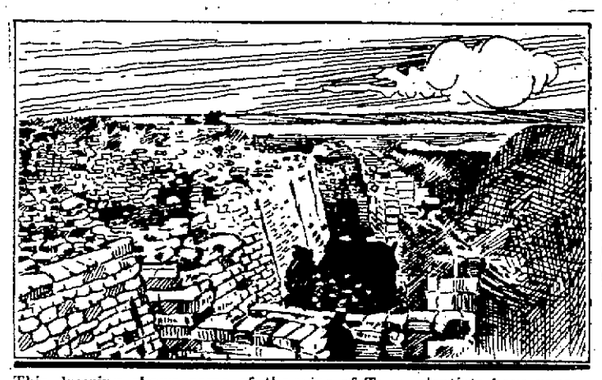

We know that many stories about Troy are myths, and could not have been true. This does not mean, however, that there was never a real city of Troy. People at one time laughed at the idea, but a great scientist went to the spot half a century ago and found city ruins there!

The most surprising fact of all was that there had been nine cities built at the same location. This was proved by the different layers of ruins. The lowest layer was, of course, the oldest.

Scientists say that tribes gathered at the spot way back toward the end of the Stone Age. It was a good place to live because all around was rich pasture land for sheep, goats and cattle.

At a higher level have been found the remains of what we call the Burnt City (because it was burned three times). Here were discovered gold daggers and silver jars, and a crown woven of 16,000 gold leaves and rings!

Three or four layers above the Burnt City are the ruins of what is supposed to be the Troy told about in the Greek poem. It had a mighty wall all around it, and here and there great towers. Soldiers were doubtless stationed in those towers while the city was being defended.

This drawing shows some of the ruins of Troy scientists have uncovered.

It is likely that the real cause of the Greek attack on Troy was not the desire for Helen, the beautiful wife of the Spartan king, but rather a fight for the pastures and fields around the city.

The Greeks built a city on the spot. After it was ruined, they built another. The last city (the ninth) was built by the Romans. It was called Ilium and was deserted about fifteen hundred years ago.

Next—Farming in Ancient Egypt.

Mrs. Thompson's Advice.

SHE SAYS SHE DOESN'T LIKE "MUSH"

Young Girl Says She Can't Keep Boy Friends Because She Isn't Fast

DEAR MRS. THOMPSON: I am a girl fifteen and a sophomore next year. I like boys and like to go with them. I am not "boy crazy," but it is just natural that I like them as any girl does at my age. But unlike most other girls I don't like the so-called "mush." I can't stand to have a boy kiss me or put his arm around me. That is what most boys do if you go with them.

I had one friend who came to see me one night. He wanted me to kiss him and I wouldn't. I didn't see why he should expect me to even if other girls did. He never came to see me again, just because I wouldn't kiss him and wasn't "fast" enough. I liked him very much and still do. Should I lose all boy friends just because I am not fast?

There is another boy whom I like very much, but the other girls say he is the fast kind and so I have never gone out with him. Should I give up all company with boys and never go out with them? Or should I give in to their wishes and lower my ideals? ANGEL CHILD.

At the age of fifteen you are very young to spend much time with boys. By no means lower your ideals. You would gain nothing by giving in to the wishes of the boys who want to go with you simply for love making. Such boys kiss a girl and then boast about it and talk about her afterward. You might gain a cheap and short-lived popularity if you let the boys have what they want, merely for the sake of going with them. My advice is to let them go, one after another, even if the case looks hopeless. There is a higher type of young man you will meet sooner or later and he will take you for yourself and will be interested in your companionship. It will be well worth while to hold out for the type of young man you feel you can admire.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young married woman in my teens. I married a man in his thirties. I am dissatisfied because I do want to live in town and it is closer to his work. I love him more than any one can tell, but he wants to stay in the country because he is close to his dad's people. His dad and his people are mean to me and when I go around them they always have something to say about me and so now I don't go around any of them.

Please tell me what to do. Should I leave him or stay with him? BLUE EYED X.

Since you love your husband so dearly, I would not advise you to leave him. Perhaps you have talked too much about going to town, and if you forget about the matter for a while, you will have greater influence with your husband later on when you bring up the matter again. Do not complain about his people, because he is apt to take their part. Stay away from them when you can do so tactfully, but if circumstance places you with them be a little lady and do not let their meanness touch you. When your husband sees that you are doing your best to be happy and that you are not resentful toward his people, he will be more apt to take your point of view and see the advantages of living in town.

The Story of an Artist's Wife

As Told to Grace Phelps

BARCLAY IS ENRAGED

"Will you tell me where you have been all night?" Barclay rasped out in a terrible voice.

Involuntarily I retreated, aghast. I suppose my action must have seemed like a confession of guilt, but I did not think of that. He strode into the room, maddened with rage and jealousy, and shook me by the shoulders.

"Where were you? Answer me! Were you with Victor?"

I wrenched myself free and found my voice at the same time.

"How dare you ask me such a question?" I blazed. "How dare you insinuate such a thing? Oh, you are a beast!"

He stepped back, shaken by my indignation, but still not convinced.

"Much you care what happens to me! I rushed on furiously. "You devote yourself to a girl I despise and go off with her at one o'clock in the morning, not caring how I get home or whether I am locked out or not! Where were you all night, I'd like to know?"

"I'll tell you where I was!" he retorted angrily. "Right here in this studio, where you had a right to be! I ask you again, where were you?"

"Yes," I said scornfully, "you were not here! I sat on the door step downstairs until nearly morning, waiting for you to come home because I had lost my key."

"I was here about quarter after three," he said sullenly. You weren't sitting on the doorstep then!"

Quarter after three! Just fifteen minutes after I had given up hope and gone to Victor's studio.

"And I left at three o'clock!" I retorted. "Did it take you two hours and a quarter to escort Vera from the tea house to one square the other side of Ninth Street?"

"See here," Barclay had begun to cool down. "There's no good quarrelling like this. I had to take Vera home to keep her from saying something disagreeable to you! She started in as we were leaving the tea house so I got her away from the crowd as soon as I could and she began to quarrel with me. I couldn't have a scene in the street so I went up to her apartment with her until she blew off steam. Then I came home. And that's all there is to it!"

"You could not have left her at her door and come home, of course not!" I all but sneered. "There were too many people on the street at that hour of the night! It might have embarrassed her, I suppose."

I knew I was behaving like a shrew, but somehow I could not help it in the fact of such poor excuses as he was making. It was not that I suspected him of wrong doing. What I resented was that he had shown so much concern for Vera and so little for me. He was actually afraid of her and her temper. And because of it, she could twist him around her little finger!

Barclay's face grew dark with anger again.

"Look here, Ruth," he said, "I've told you the truth and you can believe it or not as you choose. I've given you an explanation, but you haven't answered me. I'm sorry you were locked out and I'm willing to believe you lost your key. But where did you spend the night? That's what I want to know."

"And that," I answered hotly, "is just what you will never know—from me!"

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND DIZZY IZZY

(Copyright, 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, the rabbit gentleman heard a voice calling:

"Now be careful! Watch out or you'll fall! Oh, there you go!"

"There, mother, I didn't fall after all, and I caught the bug, too!"

"Dear me! This is rather strange!" thought Uncle Wiggily to himself as he twinkled his pink nose. "Perhaps I am near a circus tent, and some one is trying to turn somersaults without falling over. I must take a look."

So the rabbit gentleman looked through the trees, but he only saw two birds, with long, sharp bills, perched in a tree. One bird was larger than the other, and, as the rabbit gentleman watched, the smaller bird leaned away far over on the limb where he was perched.

"Look out, you'll surely fall now!" chattered the other bird. "Oh, but you make me so dizzy doing that. Oh but you make me so dizzy doing that. Oh, you're going to fall!"

Then the smaller bird, after leaning over so far that he almost turned completely around the tree branch, laughed and said:

"There, mother, I didn't fall, and I caught another bug."

"This is very curious—I must see what it's all about," thought Uncle Wiggily. So he hopped over beneath the tree where sat the two birds. "What is the meaning of all this?" he asked.

"Oh, how do you do," Uncle Wiggily?" greeted the larger bird. "We are woodpeckers, you know, and I have been teaching my little boy bird how to dig for worms and bugs inside the trees."

"And sometimes the worms and bugs are on the outside of the bark," chirped in the little boy bird.

"Yes, that is right," agreed Mrs. Woodpecker. "And my little boy leans so far over to reach the underside of the limb, that I'm afraid he'll fall off and hurt himself. He makes me so dizzy!"

"What is his name?" asked Uncle Wiggily, politely.

"Well, when he first came out of the egg shell we called him Clipper," answered Mrs. Woodpecker. "But since he has taken to standing on his head when he reached under a limb to pick off a bug—since then I call him Dizzy Izzy."

"And a very good name it is, I'm sure," said Uncle Wiggily, with a polite twinkle of his pink nose. "Did you ever fall down, Dizzy Izzy, from leaning over too far?"

"Not yet," answered the little boy woodpecker.

"But I'm sure he will, some day!" said Mrs. Woodpecker. "Oh, there he goes again! He makes me so dizzy!" And she held one claw up in front of her eyes as Dizzy Izzy leaned away over, almost half way around another branch to pick off a bug on the underside.

"There I am! Didn't fall at all!" piped out Izzy as he caught the bug in his beak, and Uncle Wiggily had to laugh, it was so funny.

"What is his name?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

Well, the rabbit gentleman said good-bye to the woodpecker birds and hopped on to look for an adventure, and, all of a sudden, out from the bushes jumped the Fuzzy Fox, catching Uncle Wiggily by the ears.

"Ah, now for some nibbles!" howled the Fox. "Let me see, which ear shall I nibble first—the left or the right? I think I'll nibble the left ear—no, I think I'll try the right one first and—"

But just then there was a rustling in the leaves of the trees overhead and, looking up, Uncle Wiggily saw Dizzy Izzy, the Woodpecker bird. Izzy was leaning away far over a branch.

"Be careful! Don't fall!" cried Uncle Wiggily, forgetting his own troubles by trying to help some one else.

"To whom are you talking?" snarled the Fox.

"That bird up there," and Uncle Wiggily pointed. "He's leaning so far over and around the limb. Oh, look out, Izzy!" cried the bunny.

"Yes! Don't you dare fall on me!" howled the Fox. But Dizzy Izzy leaned over farther and farther—and then—all of a sudden—down off the limb he fell—right on the head of the Fox, and the sharp beak of Dizzy Izzy stuck the Fox on his soft nose.

"Ouchie wow! Oh, Zowie!" howled the Fox. And he took his paws from Uncle Wiggily's ears and held them to his own nose.

"Come on, Uncle Wiggily! Now is the time to run!" peeped Dizzy Izzy, as he flew away. And, after him, ran Mr. Longears. And when they were safe in the woods, far from the Fox, the woodpecker boy said:

"I leaned over too far and fell on the Fox purposely, Uncle Wiggily. I didn't have to fall if I didn't want to!"

"Well, I'm glad of it," spoke the bunny. "But it made me dizzy to watch you. However, thank you very much, Izzy!"

Then every one was happy except the Fox, and if the flat iron doesn't go skating down the ironing board with the handkerchief, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the red birds.

Madison Will Be Host To Printers Of State

Wisconsin printers will assemble in Madison on Sept. 22 and 23 for the Wisconsin Typographical conference. The conference assists members to obtain employment, facilitates cooperation between the unions in the state, and maintains the rights and claims of members in their relations with employers. Each local in the state will send three representatives to the conference. The Madison delegates are Leo G. Straus, Elmer Schwartz, and Melvin E. Sather. Arrangements for the conference are being completed by a committee consisting of Fred Mason, William Remmel, Melvin Sather and William Koppelmeyer.

TODAY'S RECIPES.

Fried Chicken Maryland—Cut the chicken to pieces. If it is an old fowl steam it until tender, dip in eggs and crumbs, place in a frying pan or baking dish and cook until tender and brown and delicious looking. Plenty of drippings or butter must be added. It may be cooked over the fire or in the oven.

Cream Apple Pie—Make a rich deep one crust pie, mix a cup of sugar with a cup of cream and pour over the pie. Season with nutmeg.

Pineapple Cream-Cheese Salad—For each plate of salad take a lettuce leaf, on it place a slice of pineapple, a tablespoon of cream cheese, over it pour a tablespoon of mayonnaise, then finish with a plentiful sprinkle of paprika.

Devil's Food Cupcakes—One cup brown sugar, one cup sour milk plus one teaspoon soda, one tablespoon butter, two tablespoons cocoa, one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon vanilla. Bake about 20 minutes.

Icing—To one cup powdered sugar add two tablespoons butter, thin with cream so as to make it soft enough to spread, flavor with vanilla.

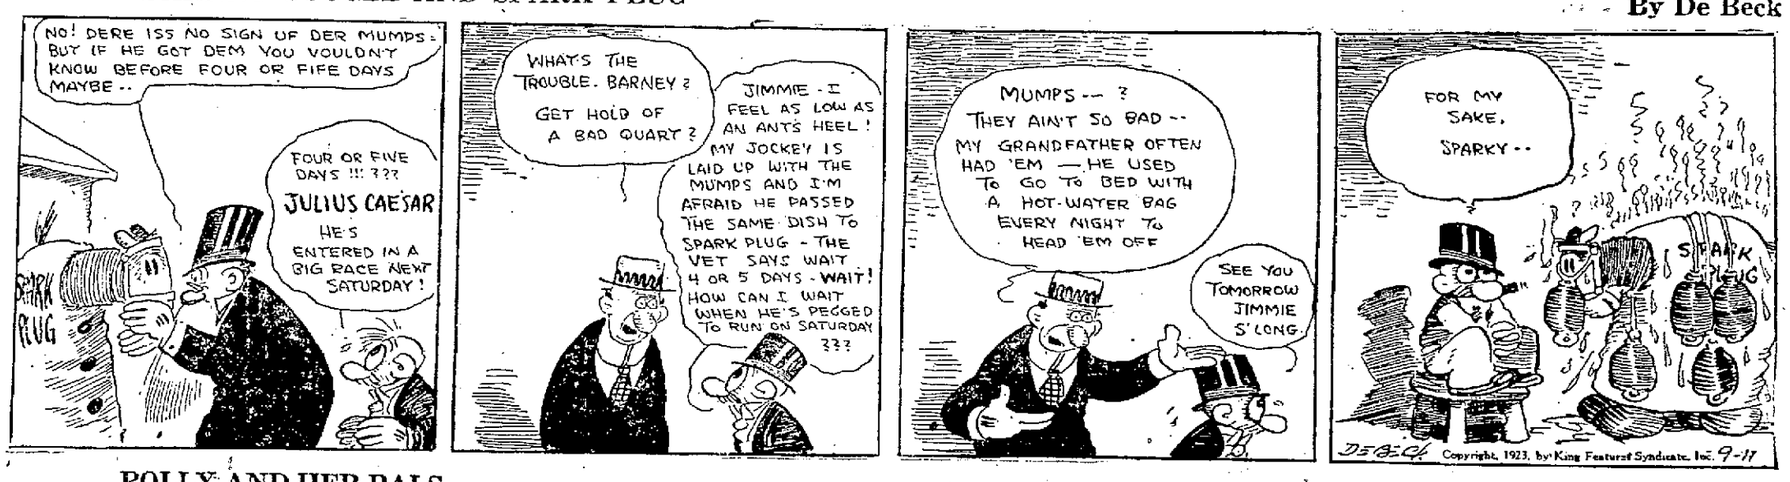

SUGGESTION.

Ojalda—This is a most delicious form of bread served with coffee or chocolate. Put two cups flour on the bread board and made a hole in center. Into this drop the yolk of an egg and one tablespoon lard. Work this with enough salted water until a stiff paste is formed. Work well and roll into a very thin sheet, then cut into diamonds and fancy shapes with pastry cutter, putting two or three slits through the middle. Fry these a light brown in hot lard and sift powdered sugar over them. They should be crispy and melting in one's mouth. Nice for luncheon or breakfast.

Pink Mitchell Speeds And Is Arrested

WAUKEGAN, Ill.— Pinkie Mitchell, Milwaukee boxer, was arrested Sunday night on Sheridan road by Motorcycle Policeman Smith, who charged he was speeding thirty-one miles an hour. Pinkie succeeded in having Justice John Nelson routed from bed and the magistrate released him on a $15 cash bond. The justice expressed the opinion on Monday that Pinkie would forget the $15 and neglect to come back.

Beat Braves 10—4; Pirates In Second Again

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—The New York Nationals, in a batting bee yesterday advanced their lead in the National league to five and a half games by knocking the Boston Brves around the lot for a score of 10 to four.

The Pittsburg Pirates by shutting out the Cincinnati Reds, 8 to 0, regained second place, leading the Cincinnatians by half a game.

The Brooklyn Robins trounced Philadelphia in spectacular style, winning 7 to 1. Pete Behan was driven from the box in three innings by a series of five closely bunched hits and a pair of bases on balls.

In the American league the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox were the only team to meet, the New Yorkers winning 8 to 1. Babe Ruth again tied Cy Williams for the home run honors when he banged out his 35th. The victory was the third straight the Yankees have taken from Boston.

Sam Jones Again

Sam Jones of the New York Americans, who pitched a no-hit game against Philadelphia last week came close to duplicating the feat against the Boston Americans. He did not allow a hit until the seventh inning, when George Burns singled after one was out. Another blow was chalked up against Jones in the ninth. Since August 31 Sam has pitched 16 2-3 innings without yielding a hit. This is believed to be a record.

Rotarians Go To Golf Meet at Line City

Janesville and Local Clubs Guests At Beloit Tourney

About 25 or 30 members of the Madison Rotary club will leave this noon for Beloit where they are entered in the Rotary club's golf tourney between Janesville, Beloit and Madison. The match is to be played over the Beloit Country club course.

Following the match today a dinner will be held in the club house for the golfers.

A series of three matches are to be played. The next one will be at Janesville and the third here at Madison over the Maple Bluff course. A trophy will be given the club winning the series. Individual prizes are also being given in each match.

The Madison Rotary club is conceded an excellent chance of winning the trophy.

Guy Martin, Maple Bluff professional, accompanied the Madison team to Beloit today.

Big Demand Arises For New Explosive

If demand may be taken as an indication of popularity, Sodatol, the new war salvaged agricultural explosive, is extremely popular. The low price — $5.95 a hundred weight—is proving attractive.

Orders from the northern counties of the state are already finding their way into the hands of county agents in many of the northern counties.

Local Orchestra Will Enter State Contest

A local juvenile musical organization, F. C. Bach's orchestra, will compete in the Wisconsin Amateur Orchestra contest to be held October 15 to 21 in Milwaukee. The contest is to be held in conjunction with the Fifth Annual Household and Electrical exposition.

Roundy Says:

I Figure That Jack Dempsey Will Pulverize This Firpo Guy

I sure was getting the rass-berrie on all sides yesterday from the fans. I boosted that Stevens Point ball team to the clouds and they sure told me about it in plain English.

* * *

They send in dope here from their sporting writer to me personally and I wrote facts just as he stated them. And I'll tell the world they have a wicked press agent.

* * *

Due to an error in the proofreading yesterday this column said Stevens Point never will win a ball game. The statement should have been, Stevens Point never will win a game against the Blues with that lineup all summer.

* * *

The less you talk abou' it the worse it gets. And some one in Stevens Point owes me an apology and the whole town up there must know who it is.

* * *

A fan from the French Battery sends in a letter wanting to know why the Speth ball club claims the city championship. He can't see it that way at all and there are hundreds of fans who think the same thing, he says. He says the Speth has a good little ball club, but so have the French. It is up to Joe Gross, manager of the Speth club now, to "put on his act."

* * *

The Blues play in Portage this Wednesday and there should be a large crowd of rooters go to that city.

* * *

The Blues will need lots of rooting and besides there will be horse racing, motorcycle races, abig fire water fight and two bands a-going all day long. People in this part of the woods should get to Portage this Wednesday and help the American legion boys in that city put over the biggest day ever staged in that section of Wisconsin.

* * *

Dempsey vs. Firpo

If Firpo is a faster thinker than the fans think and gets in a few of those right man-killers on Dempsey, then North America will be a sad place while South America will be a land of joy.

* * *

Dempsey is not a great finisher and this match may prove it.

* * *

Critics say Firpo can absorb punishment with ease. Dempsey has a lot to hand out. Can this big man take it all and come back? If he takes it all and comes back for more he will be a dangerous man.

* * *

Is the ring he fights in a jinks? Kilbane, Wilde, Criqui and Wilson have all lost their title in a row in the Polo grounds ring.

* * *

It is easily seen that Dempsey is not the man he used to be by a big margin. He is not that rip-roaring two-handed man he used to be. He wants to be a swell boxer and I'll tell the world he is one right today.

* * *

If Firpo ever lands that big ham right of his on that button and Dempsey goes down you can just get your hat and start for home that it is a cinch that he will stay down for some time.

* * *

I for one hate to see a fighter a top heavy favorite in any fight. Look at that Gibbons fight odds 5 to 3 and hardly a taker he would go over 6 rounds. Odds even on Dempsey to win on a k. o.

* * *

Firpo going in there at 220 pounds is a big man, fans, and with only one punch for him to turn the trick he has a lot of followers. He only needs that one solid whack at Dempsey's chin, the big writers say, with those big hams of his to end something.

* * *

I can't see it as some figure it. I figure that Dempsey will pulverize this Firpo. I can't see where he has that even lucky chance that goes with any fight. Dempsey can slip a lot and I will still think that he can whip Firpo without a struggle.

* * *

I don't know whether he will knock him out or not, but I figure he will just about make him think another earthquake took place in the world and hit him right on the jaw.

Capt. Parker Is Ineligible For Centrals

Only Three Letter Men Men Back; Material Is Green

By Frank Crown.

With only three letter men back and the rest of the material green, Coach Howard Johnson of the Central high school, is getting his men ready for the coming game with Stoughton on Sept. 22. Monday's work consisted of scooping up balls recovering fumbles and drilling of the line and backfield. Krug seems to be the only man available for the center job. Lynaugh and Tripolin are working the quarterback position, while Dunn and Kittleson are at the backs. In the line are: Bulosky, Watson, and about 28 youngsters who Thompson is trying to develop. Capt. Parker, ineligible, means that Johnson must develop an end who will fill the shoes of Parker. A captain will be elected some time this week. Pea, Lynaugh, and Dunn are considered for the captainship. Central did not get any men from East Side as was expected. As a result of the change of school territories many Central men were lost who will now be pulling for East Side high. From now until the game with Stoughton,

Dorothy Page

A CHAMPION at 14!

This is the accomplishment of Dorothy Page, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. William H. Page, who won the Maple Bluff women's championship last Saturday when she defeated Mrs. R. T. McGuire 3 and 2. And the winning of honors does not end with Dorothy's annexing the title. Indeed not. Her mother copped the consolation trophy from Miss Jean Cantwell the same day.

Dorothy Page's rise as a golfer at the Maple Bluff course has been an interesting one to watch. She has not commanded the attention of golfers much during the past because of the fact that she has not been permitted to compete in state tournaments because of her age. Had she been allowed to play there is no doubt but what she might have given the state's best a hard run for honors.

Fond du Lac Gets Volley Ball Meet; Cockrell At Conference

The Madison Y. M. C. A. has been awarded the 1924 state basketball meet, it was announced today by Loran Cockrell, physical director of the "Y," who has just returned from a meeting of physical directors at Lake Geneva.

Last year the state meet was held at Beloit. The Firestone Tires team, led by "Chuck" Reider, represented the Madison district at the meet and was eliminated in the first game.

Plans for the state meet will be made out in advance this year so that it can be as big a success as possible. The meet at Beloit last year was a miserable one indeed.

Fond du Lac was awarded the state volley ball tourney at the Lake Geneva conference.

University Of Iowa Coach After Heavyweight Title

CHICAGO—Mike Howard, who was wrestling coach at the University of Iowa, has served notice on the heavyweight wrestlers that he is going to make a drive for the world's heavyweight crown. Just to show the mat fans he is in earnest about such a move he has agreed to meet the old war horse, Charley Cutler, in a match at Ashland Boulevard auditorium Sept. 26 in the athletic show to be staged as a part of the Knights of Pythias state convention program. Mike can coach wrestling in the Big Ten for many years, judging from his success of last year, but figures his services will be all the more desirable if he can wrestle himself to the title ranks.

Report for September 11, 1923

Wheat Close At Chicago Is Unsettled

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—With this a traditional date for the beginning of a bear campaign in wheat, the market had a slight downward tendency today in the early dealings. The fact that the government report showed a larger yield of spring wheat than had recently been looked for counted aslo as a depressing influence. Besides predictions of a heavy movement of new wheat in Canada were given notice. The opening, which ranged from a shade to 3-8c lower, with Dec. 1.05 3-4 to 1.05 7-8 and May 1.11 to 1.11 7-8 were followed by a little general decline and then something of a rally.

Subsequently weakness increased. Canadian hedging sales were said to be enlarged, and the crop movement in Canada was expected to grow rapidly unless weather conditions became very unfavorable. The close was unsettled, 1-4 @ 3-8 to 3-4c net lower, Dec. 1.05 3-8 to 1.05 1-2 and May 1.10 3-4 to 1.10 7-8.

Corn was easier as a result of bearish prospects of the government crop report. After opening unchanged to 3-8c lower, Dec. 67 3-4 to 67 7-8, the market showed a downturn all around, but then recovered somewhat.

Fresh declines ensued in sympathy with wheat weakness. Corn closed unsettled at a range varying from 5-8 net lower to 1-8@1-4 advance, Dec. 68 1-8@1-4 to 68 1-4 @3-8.

Oats were firm in the absence of any decided selling pressure. Prices started 1-8 to 1-4c higher. Dec. 39 5-8 to 39 3-4 and continued to hold slightly above yesterday's finish.

Provisions lacked support.

Firm Tone To Market In The Opening Prices

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Favorable foreign news and higher foreign exchange rates continued to impart a firm tone to opening prices in today's stock market. Coppers were again active and strong, Green Cananea leading the initial advance with a gain of 1 point. Other changes were largely fractional.

Except for the heaviness of Pan-American Oil issues and the leather stocks the general market displayed a buoyant tone with sugar and merchandising issues in good demand. Rails also were more active at slightly higher prices. General Electric and Davison Chemical each advanced two points and Cuba Cane Sugar Pfd., South Porto Rican Sugar Pfd. Punta Alegre Sugar, United States Rubber, Beechnut Packing, Reynolds Tobacco B. and International Harvester were among the many stocks to gain a point or more. Foreign Exchanges opened strong, demand Sterling advancing a cent to $4.54⅝ and French francs 12 points to 5.81 cents.

The closing was firm. A bullish demonstration in Cosden which advanced 3 points in expectation of the maintenance of the present dividend, previously reported in danger, featured the late dealings. Other oils, which were heavy earlier also stiffened. Sales approximated 550,000 shares.

Madison's Smoke Viewed From The Capitol Dome

THE Madison smoke problem is now before the common council for solution.

Last Spring a reporter for The Capital Times climbed to the top of the capital dome to view the smoke problem from that perch. In this front seat, the reporter, William Dawson, had an opportunity to get a comprehensive view of the city in its pall of smoke. Here is Mr. Dawson's article:

Smoke. Soot. Great clouds of gray-green smoke hiding streets and buildings. Discolored, dirty houses. Dusty panes. High-flung chimneys belching great cloud-drifts. Stagnant skies and polluted air.

Through caverned, blackened streets the traffic slides like loosened floods of blue flame. Aloft, huge girders of riveted steel, derricks and cranes and small men contriving like spiders to hack new projections in the sky. Men guide hammers and drills. Clouds of steam and smoke explode in hissing chorus all about. Dim skies. Houses quiver with rage from soot and huddled squalor.

Above it all rises the granite dome of the capitol, like a white phoenix beating its wings in the sunshine.

Such was my fanciful vision of the probable Madison of 1950 as I gazed out over the city from the topmost pinnacle of the statehouse. No other place in the city offers an equaled view of the city.

Like an enchanted city, Madison nestles close to her limpid lakes, the center of a vast commonwealth of rolling farm lands, like a rare and proud jewel in a beauty's crown.

On my perch on the dome of the capitol I hovered a wee speck in the air. From the narrow ledge of my aerial throne I poked my head, turtle-like, out over the narrow bannister and looked down 350 feet at ant-sized men and women who bustled through the city streets.

Above me the spring sun rolled undisturbed in spring skies. In the sunshine about me, pigeons fluttered.

To my right and left the city spread itself like a napping dragon. Straight before me and to my rear Lakes Mendota and Monona nestled close to the city shores.

But the spectre of the smoke peril came back to me as I looked out over the city, reminding me that the sordid wheels of commercialism can sometimes mar the most perfect of cities.

Chimneys of all sizes, factory stacks, and railroad locomotives joined like a mobilized army to pour their suffocating contents on the spring day.

Viewed from the air, Madison has two conspicuous smoke centers. One lies to the southwest of the capitol, between State st. and W. Washington ave., and extends to the city's southwest limits. The other section lies to the southeast of the capitol, between E. Washington ave. and Lake Monona, and continues to the southeast limits of the city.

Both districts hold railroad yards and the manufacturing plants and huddled houses. Twin spots of black on an otherwise spotless city. Even now they threaten to grow and spread their contagion, creeping to the capitol square and the heart of the state's pride.

More like a picture of a shell-razed French village burning after bombardment than a city of peace and learning. Looking down State st. from the dome, it is nearly impossible to see the sky line of the business places because of the smoke. On every roof top the chimneys were coughing their black fumes to the sky, hiding familiar places and sweeping in great clouds to the south in the face of a north wind.

From State st. west to W. Washington ave., and clear out to the city limits the scene was the same, except here and there where some giant stack reared its ugly head and poured its blackened contents.

In the heart of this district lies the St. Paul railroad yards. Round houses and locomotives at this point concentrate their smoke volume to blacken the sky. And down beyond the yards where engines pound and clang all day and night, "Little Italy" sits in squalid forlornness, breathing deep the black fumes. Manufacturing plants that crowd one upon the other at this point, add to the scarring scene.

Turning to the east of the city, looking toward that strip lying between E. Washington ave. and Lake Monona, the same sight greets the observer. Giant stacks of the city's industrial plants spit their black deluge to the sky. Railroad round houses and locomotives add their bit.

Because the district is more crowded and the shops and factories more closely gathered, the east side of the city presents the greater peril.

But everywhere is soft coal. That greenish-yellow mass of cloud-like vapor that gathers above the house and factory tops cannot be mistaken.

What a contrast the other sections of the city present. Looking out to the northeast of the city, along the shores of Lake Mendota and out Sherman ave., there is no menace of soft coal smoke. Bright windows catch the sun. Clean houses, resplendent in their paint and pomp, cheer the scene.

And to the west of the city, out toward College Hills and University Heights the scene is cheerful. Health and happiness are there. The homes show it. There are no choking smoke clouds to mar the view.

How long will it be before these districts will also writhe under the blackened clouds of soot and smoke? How long before the greed of commerce drives them out beyond the city and the lakes. Will the smoke and soot soon change the splendor of those districts as it has in other parts of the city?

On all thy hill-tops rising
Vast domes and shining spires,
Where law and love and learning
Hath lit their beacon fires.

These lines came to me as I dreamed of what the city might be in years to come if the demon smoke is held in check. What a vision compared to the prospects. Will Madison succumb to the ever growing plague, or will she push proudly forward to the heritage that is hers? I thought I heard the cackling laugh of an old man as I voiced the query. I was disturbed. I descended down spiraling stairways to the streets, back to the ways of men.

PrizeOffered of $10,000

By Winifred B. Cossette

THE American Association for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals cooperating with a committee of the American Humane Association on Slaughter-house Reform has offered a prize of $10,000 for a killing device that will reduce the sufferings of animals being slaughtered for food. The Association says even when, as in Germany, the best has been done that human genius can devise and humanity dictates, the very nature of the business involves frightful suffering. To take to the place of shipment cattle, sheep and swine, to bring into the slaughter pen amid unfamiliar scenes and odors millions of creatures frightened, unable to comprehend what is wanted of them, to do this with care and concern that would prevent all suffering would make the cost involved in the traffic absolutely prohibitive. "But all unavoidable suffering should be minimized. Not only does humanity demand this but the public health as well. Toxic changes take place in the flesh of animals while suffering and terrified, that render it UNFIT FOR FOOD."

When we add to this the freezing on the ranges in winter and death from drought in summer this industry carries a heavy liability. An uneasy conscience is a good manifestation, but why cannot the brain of mankind follow out the simple, logical conclusion; why not eradicate the evil by refusing to partake in the suffering? These tender-hearted efforts are about as practical as the rules to render war "humane"! Still reverberates from Sinai the commandment—"Thou shalt not kill!"

Through enlightened selfishness many are turning from the innocent animal cadaver; antagonism to the meat-producers has led to further diet research; the myth of the virtue of roast beef has vanished. Many cherish the hope of "getting" the packers by their change of diet, but the children of darkness at the present are several laps ahead of the consumer. "Knowing their business" control of meat substitutes has been so carefully arranged that little inconvenience would result from a boycott of any extent. This will be another story. La Follette's for June, p. 91, discusses the low protein diet admirably. Whole wheat contains about fifteen per cent of protein (the constituent of muscle and tissue) without the deleterious concomitants of flesh food; and this proportion to a meal is probably sufficient for adult restoration. Eggs, nuts, gluten, peas, lentils, beans and dairy products are tissue-building. Meat-eaters who would rather have their own way than be right, declare the Bible is on their side, and those of us who are weak on this authority cannot confute them by showing the true definition of meat."

Genesis, Chap. 1:29. And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb-bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in which is the fruit of the tree yielding seed; to you it shall be for meat.

A CHOICE OF CAREERS

The interesting question as to whether the higher learning as now taught in America is less important than house building is aroused by the report that a graduate of the University of Washington has refused a professional job in another institution and is going to work as a plasterer.

No one can blame the young man in question for preferring the higher wages and smaller dignity of overalls for the higher dignity and smaller wages of the lecture hall. And it may be that he prefers the comparative intellectual freedom of the mechanic, protected by a strong union, to the open shop university life, where he can be hired and fired at the whim of the president, who objects to his ideas. The job preference is natural, but the question that comes to our mind is whether or not the young man is not doing more good to humanity in providing shelter for mankind than in teaching the things that the controllers of our universities think proper for the young to know.

Who does control our universities? Prof. Veblen, one of the most distinguished university minds in America, says that the policy of the president of almost every university in the land is under the thumb of a group of the elder business men, opposed by training to modern ideas. Upton Sinclair's Goose Step throws further doubts on the usefulness of our universities. More and more independent young scholars like the new plasterer are avoiding the doubtful career of a university professor. —Seattle Union Record.

Poems That Live

DELIA, AN ODE

Fair the face of orient day,
Fair the tints of op'ning rose;
But fairer still my Delia dawns,
More lovely far her beauty shows.

Sweet the lark's wild warbled lay,
Sweet the tinkling rill to hear;
But, Delia, more delightful still,
Steal thine accents on mine ear.

The flower-enamour'd busy bee
The rosy banquet loves to sip;
Sweet the streamlet's limped lapse
To the sun-browned Arab's lip.

But, Delia, on thy balmy lips,
Let me, no vagrant insect, rove;
O let me steal one liquid kiss,
For Oh! my soul's parched with love.

Emery at Old Scenes

Dairy and Food Commissioner Visits Wisconsin City Where He Taught 50 Years Ago

[From Wisconsin Rapids Tribune]

A very interesting event took place on Friday at the Lincoln building, when J. Q. Emery, State Dairy and Food Commissioner, addressed over six hundred students at assembly. It was an occasion of interest, for Mr. Emery was addressing children and grandchildren of his former pupils. Mr. Emery was for four years principal of the local school and county superintendent. That was way back in 1869 when there were only twenty-three schools in the entire county and there were only four teachers in the local schools of which he was one of the instructors as well as principal and county superintendent.

Mr. Emery told his hearers that he came by stage-coach from New Lisbon when he received his appointment here. In those days Marshfield was a forest and it was impossible for him to vist the county schools except in the winter, as the streams were not bridged over and he had to cross on the ice.

"In those times all the classes studied and recited in one room. There were only twenty-three schools in the entire county. The country around here was a dense forest and 'wild west' scenes took place daily," said Mr. Emery, "and the assistant to me received only $10 per month, which was paid by an order for which the holder received only seventy to eighty per cent of the face value."

Today Mr. Emery spent part of his time renewing old friendships about the city. F. J. Wood went about with Mr. Emery introducing him to the newcomers and directing him to the older residents many of whom Mr. Emery was well acquainted with in "the old days."

Mr. Wood and Mr. Emery were interesting callers at the Tribune office and there Mr. Emery told the story of the time he was owner of the old Grand Rapids Tribune for a period of forty-eight hours. It was at the time the Tribune was in the hands of the receivers and was sold by the sheriff on a foreclosure. Mr. Emery bid it in but sold within two days to the Brundages.

"Speed Limit 90 Miles An Hour"

By A NEW TAX PAYER

There's just one place on God's green earth
Where there's no limit to your speed.
You can go as fast as you darn please,
You can make your motor snort and wheeze,
You can drive there till your eyelids freeze,
On Lakeside.

You can hit her up the whole "street"(?) through,
Other speeders,(?) well, there'll be few,
And no horn you'll hear from first to last
Of other guys agoin' past.
What your speed is, none will be so fast
On Lakeside.

Of course other people take this "street"(?)
And many cars you'll pass and meet,
For, bless their souls, they have to come
This way to Madison, on this street so bum,
And to themselves their curse they hum,
On Lakeside.

It's a nightmare, we all know well,
There's better roads than this in H—l,
If you don't go fast, your motor'll buck,
If you go slow, you'll sure get stuck,
And the highway commissioner passes the buck
On Lakeside.

The highway commissioner thinks he's a wise guy,
And very seldom a day passes by
That he don't take a slap at the County of Dane,
Though the county helps feed him again and again,
He gives us all a most awful pain, and Lakeside.

He says old Dane is awfully rich,
But so doggone tight, she'll stay in the ditch,
And 'cause we don't bond for his pet concrete,
Though he lets us in on gravel quite neat,
He dumps us onto this rotton old "street"
Called Lakeside.

Now, the thing we'd all like mighty well to know,
And it seems to us, this wise guy might show,
Is, why a better pave on this street can't be laid,
With some of the money that comes from state aid,
And is spent somewhere else where better roads are made,
Than Lakeside.

He's passed the buck so long and so well,
That just now, no one can tell
Who is to pay for this awful pity
That's been wished upon our city.
So we'll bust out spring and sing our ditty
On Lakeside.

HOW TO END PROFITEERING

By placing the state in the oil business, the governor of South Dakota compelled the Standard Oil company to reduce the price of gasoline from 24 to 16 cents a gallon.

It is easy to protect the public from the profiteers when officials have the desire and the necessary courage.

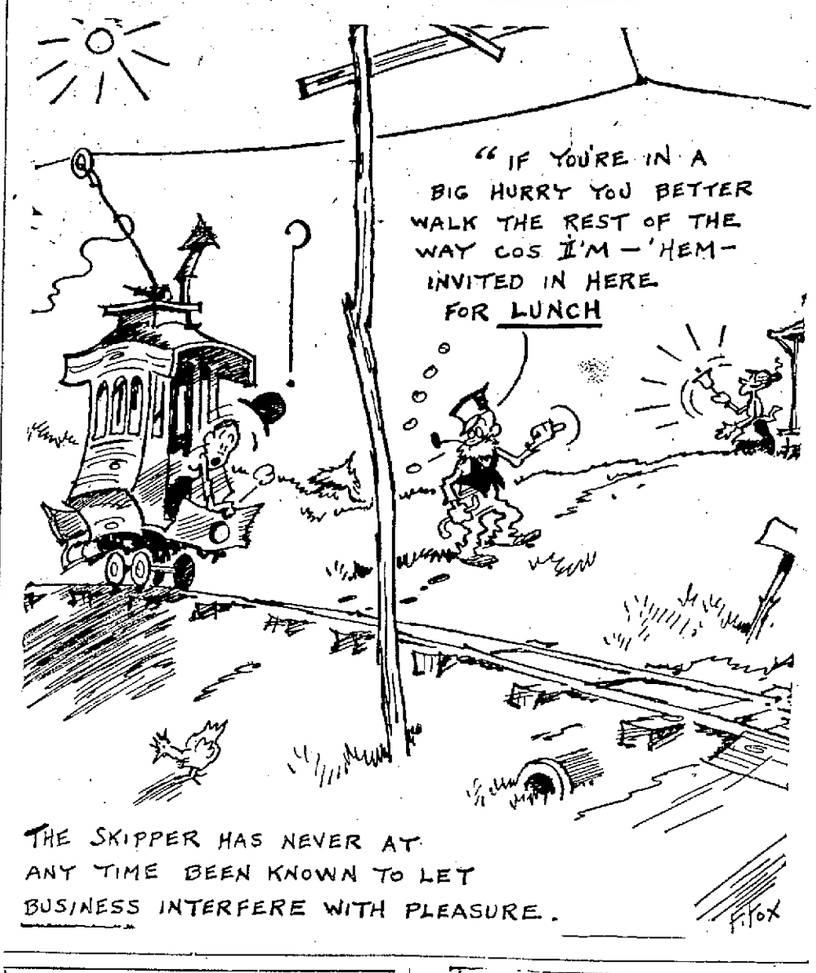

Last winter the coal companies and the sugar trust robbed the American people of hundreds of millions, while Attorney General Daugherty and other state and federal officials stood around and talked.

The thing could have been stopped in 48 hours if the officials involved had desired to do so. They made no effective move because they did not want to offend the profiteers.

They figured the people would forget, but they knew the profiteers had long memories and would remember their friends when the time came to raise a campaign fund.—Labor.

RANTING AGAINST RADICALS

In spite of the scare heads of the capitalist newspapers and the scare speeches of little Irvy Lenroot, large industries find Wisconsin a good state to operate in. The senator wants to know why any industry should locate in Wisconsin or any man invest his capital in any productive enterprise in this state.

Well, he might ask some of the scores of industries that are already here and have no intention of leaving. They would tell him—in a whisper and not for publication—that they get fairer treatment in Wisconsin than in any other state in the Union. The senator's rant about radicalism must be rather sickening even to his dwindling supporters.—Milwaukee Leader.

"TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY"

The papers print a column which they Call "twenty-five Years Ago Today,"
And time was I read it and thought, "How queer
Such strange events should have happened here."

I mocked at my father, who smiled and said:
"I was there when this happened," or shook his head
At some ancient record, to indicate
The truth of a tale of some by-gone date.

Oh, it seemed in youth they could not be so,
Those stories of twenty-five years ago;
Then "twenty-five years ago today"
Seemed ever and ever so far away.

But I'm getting old, and it can't be hid,
I'm shaking my head as my father did
As I find them printing the things I know
As the record of twenty-five years ago.

And the children stare as my head they pat
And, surprised, they question, "Did you see that?"
They think it strange that a man should say
He saw things twenty-five years ago today.

Oh, it's not so long. Just a flick, that's all!
You may think it great but it's really small,
And you'll find it out when the papers tell
Some ancient news you remember well.

TICKS O'THE TIMES

The very small boy, with a penny clutched in his hot and sticky hand, entered the toyship and, standing on tiptoe, inspected the goods displayed therein, according to the Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph. After a long look he did not see anything to satisfy and asked to see some other things.

Nothing seemed to please him, however, and at last the shopkeeper lost his patience and said said rather sharply:

"Look here, my lad, do you want to buy the whole world with your penny?"

The prospective purchaser thought deeply for a moment and then replied:

"Let's see it."

Of Sabbath breaking north of the Tweed there are many stories, and an American who has spent a bit of his time there adds one concerning a Scot and his wheelbarrow. Judge prints it.

Donald was hammering away at the bottom of his barrow when his wife came to the door.

"Mon," she exclaimed, "you're making muckle clatter. What will the neebours say?"

"Never mind the neebours," replied the busy one. "I maun get ma bara mendit."

"Oh, but Donald, it's vera wrang to wark on Sabbath!" expostulated the wife. "Ye ought to use screws."

SARGASSO SEA

This is the graveyard of old sailing ships—
Unburied, broken masts bleach in the sun,
Dead as last kisses on dead lovers' lips,
And quiet now, their mission being done.
Time was—and not so long ago—when these,
Their sails flung wide, were coursers of the main,
Braving the thousand dangers of the seas
For England's glory, or to honor Spain.

And now no shred of pennon swings to tell
To what forgotten cause their path was laid,
But we can know they served their masters well,
For those who captained them were unafraid.
Only a passing gull sweeps from the sky
To look at them, so quietly they lie!

FORD THROWS A BOMB

One of the strongest advocates of public ownership of railroads is Henry Ford, and he is losing no opportunity to express his championship of this principle in the most vigorous language.

In his latest pronouncement on the subject, he says:

"There should be a single system of railroads in the United States instead of the antiquated network of financial corporations which take toll from the nation's highways today."

That seems to put the matter in a nutshell—shall we have toll roads or public highways?

Every Twin City motorist knows the inconvenience and expense of the toll bridge across the Mississippi at Hudson and resents the fact that he should have to pay money to a private concern for the privilege of passing over a link in a public highway.

Yet most of them do much the same thing every time they buy a railroad ticket without thinking anything of it.

The private ownership of railroads is destined in time to the fate of the old-fashioned toll road of our grandfathers. Both are equally illogical. Transportation is a matter of social concern.

Railroads should be operated with the idea of the best possible service to the public at cost solely in mind.

The idea of dozens of competing lines, each being operated for private profit, is an anachronism in this day and age. Tomorrow it will be an impossibility.

Meanwhile persons who have believed in the divinely established authority of private property are astonded that the nation's largest owner of private property has come out in favor of public ownership of public utilities. It is a bomb in their ranks, with high explosive power.—Minnesota Star.
